Bishop's Column

Advent and Christmas seem to creep up on me – every year! I think I have plenty of time and then suddenly it is here and before you know it - gone! I always feel that one of the feast days during the Christmas period that gets a little lost in all the hoo-ha of celebration is the Feast of the Holy Family. This year it will take place on the weekend of December 27 and 28. It always falls in the wake of Christmas, and for this reason it does not get the attention it deserves. However, this year I feel it is a feast we should all honour and look to.

We are in fact in the period of “in-between-synods”. You will notice that in this edition of the Voice we have published in full Cardinal Vincent Nichols’ Pastoral Letter to his Diocese on his return from the Synod. It is a very good and clear description of what happened at the Synod and what it means for us. He was there so we can trust his word.

Many things were said during the Synod, but I would just like to quote from the Holy Father’s final address to the Synod. He outlines five temptations to be avoided. They apply to us all!

The temptation to hostile inflexibility, that is, wanting to close oneself within the written word, (the letter) and not allowing oneself to be surprised by God, by the God of surprises, (the spirit); ...it is the temptation of the zealous, of the scrupulous, of the solicitous and of the so-called – today – “traditionalists” and also of the intellectuals.

The temptation to a destructive tendency to goodness [do-gooders], that in the name of a deceptive mercy binds the wounds without first curing them and treating them; that treats the symptoms and not the causes and the roots. It is the temptation of the “do-gooders,” of the fearful, and also of the so-called “progressives and liberals.”

The temptation to transform stones into bread to break the long, heavy, and painful fast (cf. Lk 4:1-4); and also to transform the bread into a stone and cast it against the sinners, the weak, and the sick (cf. Jn 8:7), that is, to transform it into unbearable burdens (Lk 11:46).

The temptation to come down off the Cross, to please the people, and not stay there, in order to fulfil the will of the Father; to bow down to a worldly spirit instead of purifying it and bending it to the Spirit of God.

The temptation to neglect the “depositum fidei” [the deposit of faith], not thinking of themselves as guardians but as owners or masters [of it]; or, on the other hand, the temptation to neglect reality, making use of meticulous language and a language of

Come Home For Christmas!

Churches throughout our Diocese will greet thousands of annual visitors to services over the Christmas period – and we’d love to extend that welcome every week!

At this time of year our pews are often full to overflowing, but often it’s only for one day.

Come Home for Christmas is a seasonal outreach initiative that aims to offer a welcome to Catholics who, for whatever reason, no longer or rarely attend Mass.

It’s a project supported by the Department for Evangelisation and Catechesis of the Bishops’ Conference of England and Wales.

The title of the initiative brings to mind the festive song Driving Home For Christmas made famous by Middlesbrough-born musician Chris Rea, a former pupil of St Mary’s Roman Catholic College.

It’s about driving home for the holidays and longing to meet up with friends and family but being stuck in a traffic jam.

“Driving home for Christmas, I can’t wait to see those faces, to get my feet on holy ground...”

It’s a simple song but is guaranteed to stir the emotions of anyone who yearns to spend Christmas in the company of those they love.

There is, perhaps, no loss more keenly felt than the absence of a loved one on Christmas Day.

Similarly, this is a time when the Church is saddened by the absence of so many of its family – those who once came to Mass but have drifted away or have even left in anger.

Some may feel there’s no longer a place for them, or perhaps they fear they would be met with condemnation if they showed their faces again.

However, Cardinal Vincent Nichols, the Archbishop of Westminster, says your local church would welcome you with open arms and listen to your story.

“Today many reasons are given why people stop practicing their Catholic faith,” he says. “This is an easy step to take. Much more difficult is to take up again the practice of the faith. It’s well worthwhile because it gives a right and healthy context in which to live our lives and cope with all its pressures. “So I invite Catholics who have let things go to return to the practice of their faith. There will be a warm welcome for you.”

Even if you haven’t been to church recently, it’s never too late to start again, no matter how long you have been away.

The Church hopes this great feast of Christmas will be an opportunity to rekindle relationships with God. We want everyone to know they are loved, they are missed and their absence is felt by us all.

Those who do attend Mass regularly can play their part by having the courage to invite people to come to church with them, whether they be family, friends, or neighbours.

They may just be waiting for the invitation – we’ll never know unless we ask! And it might just prove to be the best present you could possibly give them.

To find out more about the initiative, visit www.comehomeforchristmas.co.uk or contact Deacon Vince Purcell at the Department for Adult Formation and Evangelisation on (01642) 850505 ext 241.

Bishop Terry Launches Celebrations

St Thomas More’s Parish in Middlesbrough began its 40-year celebrations with an uplifting visit from Bishop Terry to celebrate Mass.

His homily highlighted the strengths of this parish and special mention was given to parishioners who have gone before us and who worked so hard to establish and build-up the church.

Afterwards, a large crowd gathered in the hall for refreshments and Bishop Terry took time to chat to everyone, completing an inspiring and enjoyable morning.

Cardinal’s Synod Reflections

A Pastoral Letter from Cardinal Vincent Nichols On The Synod On The Family

My brothers and sisters in Jesus Christ

I would like to tell you a little about the recent Extraordinary Synod of Bishops held in Rome on the theme of the pastoral challenges facing the family in the context of evangelisation. I was privileged to take part in this two-week meeting. I found it a rich and moving experience.

You may have heard or read that this Synod has been about changing the teaching of the Church on marriage, family life or sexual morality. This is not true. It was about the pastoral care that we try to offer each other, the “motherly love of the Church”, especially when facing difficult moments and experiences in family life.

You may have heard that the Synod represented a “defeat for Pope Francis” or that he was disappointed at its outcome. This is not true. At the end of our meeting Pope Francis spoke at length about his joy and satisfaction at its work. He told us to look deeply into our hearts to see how God had touched us during the Synod, and to see how we may have been tempted away from the promptings of the Holy Spirit. The Synod, he insisted, has been a spiritual journey, not a debating chamber.

In fact, the very word “synod” means making a walk or a journey together. That’s what we did. Our journey was an exploration of all the problems facing the family today, from the effects of war, immigration, domestic violence, polygamy, inter-religious marriages, to cohabitation, the breakdown of marriage, divorce and the situation of those who have ended a valid marriage and entered another union, another marriage. The vastness of the picture and the suffering it represented was, at times, overwhelming.

We also looked at the great joy of family life and the importance of marriage at its heart. We listened to husbands and wives speaking of the difficulties they had overcome, the struggles they face and the deep joy they experience in their mature marriages and family lives. They were moving moments. A lovely description of the family was offered: the family as “a sanctuary of holiness” with emphasis always on the sharing of prayer at the heart of family life. Pope Francis set the tone. He asked us to look reality in the eye; to speak openly from the heart; to listen humbly and respectfully to each other. This is what we did. There was no rancour, no contestation. There were disagreements, of course. But he told us to live through the experience with tranquility and trust. And we did. It was a marvellous experience of the Church as a family and of the Church, at this level, hard at work, trying to follow the promptings of the Holy Spirit and express them in carefully chosen words. During the Synod we worked on various documents which were trying to catch the views and desires of all the participants. By the end I believe we got there. So the Synod ended with a Synod Report, on which we voted, paragraph by paragraph. The votes indicated, quite simply, where agreement was more or less total and where it was not. This Report now forms the starting point for the next Synod on the family, to take place in a year’s time. The theme of this next Synod, in October 2015, takes us on from where we left off: “The Vocation and Mission of the Family Today.”

Central to the work of the Synod that has just ended was the desire to strengthen and reinvigorate the pastoral practice of the Church. A central principle for this pastoral care emerged clearly: that in trying to walk alongside people in difficult or exceptional situations, it is important to see clearly and with humility all the good aspects of their lives. That is what comes first. From this point, we learn to move together towards conversion and towards the goodness of life that God has for us and that Jesus opens for us all. This positive approach flows right through the Synod Report and I hope will increasingly shape our attitude towards each other.

This is especially true with regard to individuals who, for example, have decided to live together without marriage, or for Catholics in second marriages. These realities are part of their journey in life and while not in keeping with the pattern the Lord asks of us, their lives are often marked by real goodness. This is the basis for our care of them, for our approach to them, our invitation to them, to come closer to the Church and deepen their faith and attend carefully to its call. We say this confidently because it is within the call of our faith, the call of Jesus to each one of us, expressed in the truth of the Gospel and treasured in the Church, that our deepest happiness is to be found.

There has been much talk about how the Synod reflected on the situation of people of a same sex attraction. There was no suggestion that the teaching of the Church might somehow give approval to the notion of “same-sex marriage” or that its teaching on sexual morality is to change. However two things were very clear. The first is that we should never identify people by their sexual orientation. Every person is endowed with unique dignity, both as an individual and as a Christian. This dignity is always, always to be respected. Secondly, it is the teaching of the Church that they are not only to be respected but also always accepted, with compassion and with sensitivity (Catechism of the Catholic Church 2358). This teaching has to be translated into loving care, in our daily life in the Church, in our parishes, and indeed in society.

But Pope Francis went a little further. He spoke of “the Church composed of sinners...that has doors wide open to receive the needy, the penitent and not only the just.” He spoke about the duty of pastors always to welcome into the Church those in difficult situations or in trouble. Then he corrected himself saying that we, as pastors, were not simply to welcome them but to go out and find them, just as the Good Shepherd did for those who had drifted away. At the end of the Synod, in his closing address, Pope Francis said this: “Dear brothers and sisters, now we still have one year to mature, with true spiritual discernment, the proposed ideas and find concrete solutions to so many difficulties and innumerable challenges that families must confront; to give answers to the many discouragements that surround and suffocate families... May the Lord accompany us and guide us in this journey for the glory of His Name.”

So that is what we must do. I hope, in a while, I will be able to put before you ways in which your prayer and reflection on these themes can be a contribution to this ongoing work of renewal in the life of the Church, in response to the unfailing love of Jesus, under the leadership of Pope Francis and always in union with him.

Yours devotedly,

Cardinal Vincent Nichols, Archbishop of Westminster

YOUTH FOCUS

Join Us At Flame 2

We are now well on the way with our preparations for Flame 2. Held at Wembley Arena, London on Saturday March 7 2015, this will be the largest gathering of Catholic young people in the country. There are already around 5,000 tickets sold, with the Arena having a capacity of 8,000. We have secured tickets and funding, now we'd just like you to come!

The first Flame event was in 2010 and cost young people around £70 to attend. We're delighted to say that Flame 2 will only cost £20 for young people from the Diocese to attend.

So, if you are a young person, a youth group, a Confirmation Preparation group, a school group or a Lourdes pilgrim, please get in touch – we'd love you to join with MYMission and Bishop Terry at the event!

Cardinal Luis Antonio Tagle of the Philippines is the main speaker and Matt Redman will lead the music. This is only the second such event in the country and already it is becoming a firm fixture, happening every four or five years.

This makes it a once in a lifetime event in the life of a young Catholic – so what are you waiting for? To book places or to find out more, email domfinn@mymission.org.uk

The Big Sing Liturgy Thing

We are delighted to be working with cjm music on the Big Sing Liturgy Thing on Wednesday January 28 2015.

The day-long event is aimed at Key Stage Two children, who will come together at the Cathedral to learn about liturgy and then put what they have discovered into practice by spending time together in prayer.

MYMission, the Diocesan Youth Mission Team, is offering this day to primary schools in the northern end of the Diocese. If it proves popular, we will hopefully be able to secure more dates from cjm.

"For many young people, their only regular experience of church is collective worship at school," say cjm.

"Members of the cjm music's team have designed the Big Sing Liturgy Thing as a feast of music, song, prayer, sign language, dance and liturgy.

"The format is borne out of more than 10 years' experience leading music and liturgy in a variety of settings, with people of all ages.

"These events involve full band, two dancers, audio-visual presentation, a full lighting and PA system with two technical crew.

"The objective is to give young people an experience of vibrant, dynamic worship. But it is more than a jamboree of song, and draws on our understanding and experience of the liturgical tradition and contemporary liturgical music."

More information and booking forms will be sent to schools shortly. In the meantime, email frpaul@mymission.org.uk if you would like to know more.

NEWS FROM ROME

Pope Warns Against Gossip

Pope Francis has warned Catholics against the dangers of terrorism – but it is the “terrorism of gossip” he’s concerned about. Speaking to the Italian Conference of Superior Majors, he advocated direct speech to solve disagreements. “If you have something against your brother, tell him to his face,” he said. “It might end in a fist fight, but that’s better than the terrorism of gossip.”

Be Catholic With No Buts

The Pope called on Christians not to linger at the “reception desk” of the Church, saying “well yes, I’m Catholic, but” not too Catholic. He said during morning Mass on the Feast Day of the Apostles, St Simon and St Jude: “The Lord calls us to his Church with the rights of a citizen. We are not passing through, we are rooted there. If we do not enter this temple and be part of this construction in order that the Holy Spirit may dwell in us, we are not in the Church.”

Leaders Asked To Help Refugees

World leaders meeting at the G20 Heads of State and Government summit in Australia were asked by the Pope to show generosity to refugees affected by conflicts throughout the world. In a letter to Australian Prime Minister Tony Abbott, he added: “Responsibility for the poor and the marginalised must...be an essential element of any political decision, whether on the national or the international level.”

Prayers For Persecuted Christians

The Pope led 15,000 people at a general audience in St Peter’s Square to join him in saying the Lord’s Prayer for Christians facing persecution because of their religious beliefs. “I must express my deep spiritual closeness to the Christian communities so harshly struck by an absurd violence that does not show signs of stopping,” he said.

Annulment Should Be More Efficient

The Church’s marriage annulment process should be more efficient and cheaper, the Pope told a meeting of canon lawyers. He recently established a special commission to streamline the process.

Together In Cambodia

Mission Together is the Catholic Church’s only official mission charity for children. It’s had a number of names over the years and many adults will remember “adopting” a baby when they were in primary school, or bringing in pennies to move their paper cut-out child up the ladder.

Names and attitudes may change, but the needs of children do not, and Mission Together continues to support the physical and spiritual wellbeing of children around the world.

This year, the focus for fundraising is the Lindalva Centre in Cambodia, which is run by the Daughters of Charity and provides a safe and loving environment where children can receive an education and a nourishing meal each day.

When Bishop Terry was doing Missionary work in Africa, Mission Together provided much-needed support, and he is very keen to encourage all primary school pupils to do what they can to help the Cambodia Appeal.

All primary schools will already have received newsletters and collecting boxes for pupils as well as resources for teachers.

These and other resources are available from the Mission Together website: www.missiontogether.org.uk

A message from Pope Francis: “Dear children, with your prayers and commitment you collaborate in the mission of the Church. Thank you for this and I give you my blessing.” (Agenzia Fides, January 7 2014)

St Bernadette’s Sleepover Stars

Pupils from St Bernadette’s Roman Catholic Primary School in Nunthorpe became Sleepover Stars by raising a fantastic £1,412 for Depaul UK, which helps young people who are homeless, vulnerable and disadvantaged.

The Depaul UK fundraiser began with a pyjama day, where all staff and pupils came to school wearing their nightwear and paid a pound towards the Depaul UK fund.

Pupils were then involved in activities within their classes to raise awareness of the plight of the homeless and the role of Depaul UK. The day culminated in a whole school assembly to enhance their understanding of the problems faced by the homeless and how to help them.

At 8pm that evening, headteacher Mary Cobbold, eight members of staff and 40 intrepid volunteers from years five and six, returned to school in their nightwear and with sleeping equipment to begin their sponsored sleepover.

After inflating their airbeds, they played a variety of games and tackled some fun quizzes before enjoying homemade vegetable soup, prepared earlier by the school’s Cookery Club.
They then watched a film depicting homeless young people, which stimulated a thoughtful discussion. The children composed their own short prayers for the homeless, wrote them out on colourful ribbons and shared them at bedtime.
“The sleepover was a wonderful experience for all who took part and a fun, yet meaningful way to generate some empathy and support for a very worthy cause,” said Mrs Cobbold.
“Memories were made for each of us that night. Depaul UK is a movement our school has had links with in the past and are keen to lend our continued support to.”

Students Honour The Fallen

Students at St Peter's Roman Catholic College in South Bank honoured the fallen of the two World Wars and all conflicts since at a remembrance service in school on Armistice Day.

St Peter's Army Cadet detachment took a lead role and children from St Margaret Clitherow's, St Mary's and St Gabriel's primary schools were in attendance, along with residents from Primrose Care Home.

In the lead up to the service, all students researched a soldier who died in World War 1, which began 100 years ago, recording their names on crosses in a memorial garden.

Lourdes Directors Meet In York

The Diocese was honoured to host a gathering of Lourdes Pilgrimage Directors from throughout the UK in York recently.

While having to get through a huge amount of work during the three-day conference, those present also took the opportunity to explore some of the Catholic heritage of York.

Father Richard Duffield and Bishop Terry met with delegates on Wednesday November 5, allowing them to visit the Shrine of St Margaret Clitherow and celebrate Mass at St Wilfrid's Church.

Later that evening, Middlesbrough brancardier and TV comedy impressionist Kevin Connolly entertained around 60 delegates after dinner.

The conference was superbly organised by Chris Tillotson and I am grateful to her and all who helped us to play the part of hosts.

Lourdes 2015 Theme Is The Joy Of Mission

The Lourdes pastoral theme, set by the Bishop of Lourdes, helps people from all over the world focus their prayer and pilgrimage each year as they make their way to the Grotto.

In recent years, the Lourdes Sanctuary has produced a DVD in each of the languages used at the shrine to help people prepare. This year, the English language DVD features contributions from young (and not so young) Middlesbrough pilgrims who agreed to be interviewed during their Lourdes pilgrimage 2014.

Andrew Gardner, Al Bury, Katy Demoily, Oona Diaz and Eleanor Goodfield join Father Paul Farrer in assisting Father Brian de Burca OMI present the pastoral theme for 2015 to the English-speaking world.

The completed DVD will be around 50 minutes long and will be available from Lourdes next year. In the meantime, Father Brian has sent a 25-minute version of the DVD featuring the Middlesbrough pilgrims.

The DVD is a great resource for groups as they begin to prepare for the 2015 pilgrimage. If your school or parish group would like a copy of the DVD, please email frpaul@mymission.org.uk

Your Lourdes Stories...

Each month we're featuring stories in which Middlesbrough pilgrims tell their often deeply moving stories about the profound impact Lourdes has had on their lives.

Some of them will make you smile and others might make you cry. All reflect some aspect of what our Pilgrimage means and reveal how it has the power to transform lives. They were first heard at the Taizé service that has become part of our pilgrimage in recent years.

The stories are all collected in a book, where more can be added. If you have your own Lourdes story you'd like others to share, please email Mary Lombard at thelombards@hotmail.com

A Mother's Story

In March 1985, my son was in a terrible car crash, resulting in severe brain damage. After 15 years of constant therapy and struggling to give him a life worth living, we found Lourdes.

Lots of people had tried to tell me about Lourdes, but nobody got anywhere near. Lourdes has to be visited personally to experience it all. It has to be seen and heard.

It has to be felt – in the heart, mind and whole body. For my son and I, our first visit was very emotional. At last we were not on our own; we felt like we had joined into a big family. It's that thing of all being together, praying together, not just for yourself and your loved ones, but for everybody you think may need it.

You lose that awful feeling of being on your own, struggling with life. It made me feel like a mountain had been taken off my back.

Lourdes gives you hope of better things to come – a miracle even. It gives you an overwhelming feeling that all things are possible. It renewed our own faith when all was lost.

The whole experience lifted our spirits. My son said that at last he felt like he belonged, and was not on the outside any more. He said, "If there is a heaven on earth, Mam, it's this – it's Lourdes."

Lourdes has taken away a lot of my anger. It gives me the strength to cope for another year.

And every year, after our visit to Lourdes, my son improves. I was not sure we could get here this year, and when I told him his response was simple: "But Mam, I need to go."

A Conversion Story

Working at Middlesbrough General Hospital, I had colleagues who went to Lourdes. I had lost any belief in God and I did not know anything about the Catholic faith, or Lourdes, but eventually I was persuaded to go as a nurse.

I loved the experience of Lourdes, and the people I met. I felt really happy there, and I wanted to go back the following year.

I learned my first Hail Mary at the Crowned Virgin statue, repeating it word for word, until I had done three, as I had been told that this would help me come back again.

On my third visit to Lourdes, I received my gift of faith. I believed, felt forgiveness and found I could pray. When I got back home, I knew I wanted to become a Catholic and try to live my faith each day, and not just for one week in Lourdes. I joined the RCIA programme, and was received into the Church the following Easter.

My fourth year in Lourdes was my first as a Catholic. My faith then led me to Central and South America, where I spent four years working as a volunteer nurse for a Catholic charity. But I still managed to get to Lourdes each year.

Lourdes has been, without doubt, the biggest force for change in my life, a continuing experience, allowing me to meet so many wonderful people and become part of a wonderful family.

Next year will be my 30th consecutive year as a volunteer, and I will always be grateful to those nurses who first encouraged me to come to Lourdes.

VOCATIONS

Not Waiting, But Expecting

As we begin the Season of Advent, we are asked to consider the difference between waiting and expecting. Waiting is kind of a neutral thing – the bus may come and it may not!

Expecting is, at its very core, an act of faith. Expecting is all about believing that promises made to us will be fulfilled.

Pope Francis has written to us all about the Joy of the Gospel. In his letter, he challenges us all to be people of Joyful Hope, the kind of people whose faith is infectious.

Advent is a journey towards Christmas and all that it entails. It is a period of reflection and preparation. It is also the start of a new liturgical year for the Church, so perhaps there is a chance for you to renew your prayerful support for those who are discerning their vocation in the Diocese.

Remember, that doesn't simply include the four men we currently have in seminary, discerning their vocation to the priesthood. It includes very many people, old, and especially young, who are placing God at the heart of their ponderings.

So let's renew our prayers for vocations. Rather than pray and then wait for something to happen, let's pray expecting something to happen.

All vocations are a gift from God. They start with him. We do not own a vocation; it is, at no point, our own possession. Vocation is about being shaped and moulded by our relationship with God and our service of him and his people.

The Lord continues to shower his people with gifts, we must pray for the courage to recognise those gifts in ourselves and others and celebrate those gifts in the life of the Church.

Then, perhaps, we can stop waiting for something to happen and start expecting with joyful hope.

If you would like to speak to some-one about your own vocation, please email frpaul@mymission.org.uk

Missionary Seals Mill Hill Commitment

Parishioners of St Gabriel's in Ormesby, Middlesbrough, were witnesses as Francis Hannaway pledged his commitment to the Mill Hill Missionaries.

Francis became a Mill Hill Associate – a lay missionary – and will work in Basankusu Diocese in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

He did the same thing 20 years ago and is returning to the Diocese to work in an area of much need.

Francis, a teacher, read out his commitment oath and signed his contract of association during Sunday Mass.

Mill Hill Missionaries' British Regional Father Liam Durrant MHM, Father Dermot Byrne MHM and Father James Fanning MHM all visited for the ceremony.

"It's a very happy time for me to be welcomed back to Mill Hill Missionaries, and especially, for this to take place within my own parish church," said Francis.

Father Pat Day, who concelebrated, added: "Francis won't be forgotten once he leaves for the Congo. He is one of our parish so we will keep in touch with him and support his work there."

Francis can be contacted at francis7@yahoo.com or can be supported through Mill Hill Missionaries financial secretary stating "Account – Francis Hannaway (Basankusu)" at finsec@millhillmissionaries.com or 3 Emilia Close, Cookham Road, Maidenhead, SL6 7HU.

We'll be keeping in touch with him and his progress in the Voice.

Lourdes - The Joy of Mission

22nd - 29th May 2015

62nd Middlesbrough
Lourdes Pilgrimage
Join us!

Dear sisters and brothers

No sooner do the children go back to school than the adverts for Christmas start to appear in the media and in the shops. People anticipate so much that the joy is often taken out of the event by disappointment with this reality. This can never be said about our annual Diocesan Pilgrimage to Lourdes. No sooner have the hospital rooms been cleaned and tidied and everything packed away for this year than our Lourdes Committee are preparing for next year. This is the way it has to be if we are to organise well and successfully for next year.

This is the reason I am writing to you now, even before Christmas, so that you will be aware of the costs and booking requirements for next year's pilgrimage. I want to thank you for booking on the Diocesan Pilgrimage. By choosing to fly with us you are helping us provide the only way of getting our sick and less able pilgrims to Lourdes. Without your support this could not happen and the most important element of our Pilgrimage would be lost.

By doing this you are already serving our VIPs, allowing them to be safe and comfortable, well cared for and enabling them to enjoy their own pilgrimage.

Our theme this year is "Lourdes, the Joy of Mission." Those who have been to Lourdes before know that it is very hard to explain to people who have never been about the wonder of the experience. Yet it is so important to try. Although many of us who have been know that we receive something very personal for our spiritual growth while in Lourdes, we also realise that we cannot keep that good news just to ourselves. It is vital that we let others know the message of healing and grace that are available there through the intercession of our Blessed Lady. Having been filled with the joy of the Good News, we have to pass it on to others.

As we prepare for our pilgrimage in 2015, let each of us reflect on how we can become more authentically joy-filled missionaries for our families, our friends, in our parishes, in our diocese, indeed in our world.

English Priest’s Senior Vatican Role

Liverpool priest, Archbishop Paul Gallagher, has been appointed Secretary for Relations with States in the Secretariat of State of the Holy See. The position, often dubbed Foreign Minister for the Holy See, involves attending to matters involving civil governments.

Archbishop Gallagher said: “My appointment comes at a time when the world is facing many serious challenges. I am convinced that diplomacy remains an indispensable tool in the pursuit of peace and harmony between nations.

“It will be a privilege to work with the Holy Father, who has established himself as an important voice at a critical moment. I am only too aware of the responsibility that comes with this office. I will need prayerful support, which I recognise has never been lacking throughout my priestly ministry and diplomatic service of the Holy See.”

Archbishop Gallagher, 60, has spent the past 31 years in the Papal Diplomatic Service.

Prayers For Pakistani Christians

Cardinal Vincent Nichols joined the Bishop of Wakefield, The Right Reverend Tony Robinson, to light candles and pray for a couple and their unborn daughter who were burned to death in Pakistan last month.

The bishops came together in St Anne’s Cathedral, Leeds, to pray for peace and the repose of the souls of Sajjad Maseeh, 27, and his wife Shama Bibi, 24.

A 1,200-strong mob burned the couple after rumours they had set fire to verses of the Quran. The bishops appealed to the Pakistan Government to bring the perpetrators to justice and protect the rights of minorities.

Cardinal Nichols said: “This is a horrific and tragic event which sullies the reputation of a great nation. Surely all people of true religious spirit will, in response, turn to God in prayer, seeking forgiveness for the violence and destruction of life, pleading for peace in our troubled world.”

Catholics’ Example For Politicians

Cardinal Nichols took the opportunity to call on politicians to learn from the Church’s hands-on approach to tackling poverty in the UK during a visit to Parliament.

“A crucial part of serving society, whether through the calling of politics or through the Church, is to face the reality before us,” he said. “This is where rhetoric ends, where philosophy gives way to reality, where dogmatism gets its hands dirty.

“For us this is what being a Church of the poor and for the poor really means. Our self-awareness is sharp; our sense of purpose is clear. Perhaps governments could take a lead from this too.”

Cardinal Nichols, who is Patron of Caritas Social Action Network (CSAN), was speaking at the organisation’s fourth annual parliamentary reception in the Houses of Parliament, on the timely date of Wednesday November 5.

He thanked the CSAN network for the “extraordinary work” of the charities who transform the lives of thousands of people across England and Wales.

He said: “You help to house the homeless, you help to keep families together through relationship support, you act as a lifeline for those seeking asylum. Together, as a Church, we embody what it means to love our neighbour and work towards human flourishing.”

Bishop Terry blesses the graves of our former bishops

Bishop Leads Remembrance Service

Bishop Terry was the principal concelebrant at the annual Mass for the Deceased Bishops and Clergy of the Diocese in the Cathedral on Tuesday November 4.

He was joined by the Chapter and priests of the Council of Priests, as well as other priests of the Diocese.

In his homily, the Bishop gave thanks for the long years of service to the Diocese of Father Michael Lambe, Father Tom O’Connell and Father David Hynes.

At the end of Mass, the Bishop and clergy processed to the remembrance garden, where former bishops of the Diocese are buried, to bless the graves. The service ended with the singing of Salve Regina.

Attendance at this annual Mass is increasing and hopefully the Cathedral will soon be full for this most important event in the Diocesan year.

Help CAFOD Fight Ebola Outbreak

Thanks to the generosity of the Catholic community, CAFOD’s Ebola appeal has reached more than £500,000. This enables us to play our part in combating this terrible virus, which is affecting people across Sierra Leone, Liberia and Guinea.

Your support is helping our Church partners to educate people about the risks, provide essential hygiene kits and washing-stations and ensure that burials are carried out safely.

In Sierra Leone, we have already trained 400 priests and catechists about Ebola prevention and each one is going door to door to discuss the disease with at least 40 families.

In Guinea, we have provided health education and hygiene kits to 28,000 people. In Liberia, we are providing emergency supplies of rice to more than 17,000 people in areas that have been quarantined or where farming has been restricted.

However, with the virus still spreading, we urgently need to scale up our work. There have been more than 13,000 reported cases of Ebola in total, but the World Health Organisation has warned that the number could reach up to 10,000 per week this month if more isn’t done to stop the spread.

Please consider making a donation to CAFOD’s Ebola appeal.

Donate now at <http://www.cafod.org.uk/Give/Donate-to-Emergencies/Ebola-crisis-appeal>

We want to take this opportunity to wish all our volunteers, supporters, parish priests, teachers, students and pupils a joyful Advent, as we prepare to welcome the birth of our Lord, and a peace-filled Christmas as we celebrate this wonderful event with our families and friends.

Mary Tudor And The Church

The story of Queen Mary's pearl pendant was shared with the Cleveland Newman Circle at a recent talk by Monsignor Antony Conlon.

This enormous South American pearl, clearly visible in a portrait of Mary, was given her by her husband, Philip of Spain. After her death, it was returned to Spain and many years later, Richard Burton bought it for Elizabeth Taylor!

Monsignor Conlon's talk, Mary Tudor and England's counter-reformation 1553-8, was both entertaining and informative, with the speaker's enthusiasm conveying a wealth of historical detail, underpinned by a deep understanding of the religious issues involved.

After Mary's accession, the Mass was restored in England. Parliament voted overwhelmingly to reintroduce burning for heretics, although Monsignor Conlon suggested that the number of such executions was exaggerated in later accounts and that Mary's restoration of the Mass and Catholic practices was welcomed throughout most of England.

The Cleveland Newman Circle welcomes people from both sides of the River Tees, from the Diocese of Hexham and Newcastle and the Diocese of Middlesbrough. Talks are held regularly in St Mary's Cathedral Hall, Middlesbrough. For details of the 2015 programme, contact (01642) 814977 or tpj.egerton@virgin.net

People are being drawn to the Extraordinary Form of the Mass by the spiritual nourishment they find there. They tell us that it deepens and focuses their Catholic Faith like nothing else they've experienced before.

It is the Holy See's wish that the Traditional Latin Mass is made available to all Catholics. The LMS is working to realise that vision.

Bar Convent's Westminster Reception

Yorkshire Catholics converged on the Palace of Westminster once again on Wednesday November 5 – this time with much more peaceable intent than the conspirators of 1605.

The Bar Convent, York, England's oldest living convent, chose that famous date to hold a reception in the House of Commons to raise awareness of its exciting plans for the future.

Invited guests, including MPs and supporters, heard about their Living Heritage Project, which will transform visitor facilities at the historic convent, making it an accessible place of education, faith and hospitality, fit for the 21st Century.

The £2m project will transform public areas, conserve the Grade I listed Georgian buildings and create a state-of-the-art exhibition space, attracting new audiences of schools, community groups and less mobile visitors.

For the Bar Convent, November 5 is a particularly poignant and significant date as Mary Ward, the founder of the Congregation of Jesus order that has resided there since 1686, was the niece of two key conspirators, John and Christopher Wright.

An inspirational pioneer in education for girls and the role of women in the Church, Mary Ward founded the Congregation of Jesus in 1609, just four years after the Gunpowder Plot.

The order has been resident at the Bar Convent since Sir Thomas Gascoigne, a local Catholic landowner, said: "We must have a school for our daughters" and bought the property to establish a school for girls – on November 5 1686.

Sister Frances Orchard CJ, Chair of the Bar Convent Trust, said: "We were delighted to be joined by guests at Westminster and to have the opportunity to share with them our exciting plans for the future for The Bar Convent.

"We are deeply grateful to all those who have donated so far to our fundraising appeal.

"We have raised just short of £750,000 towards our target of £2m, an amazing achievement, but there remains a long way to go.
