

'Catholic Perspectives on Poverty'

A Study Day for Clergy, Laity, and Students of Theology

Saturday 21st March 2015

Ushaw College, Durham

10.00am (registration) - 5.30pm

Alison Gelder

Housing Justice

'Fighting poverty in an age of austerity:
Developing an effective Christian response'

Dr Mark Hayes

St Hilda Chair, Durham University

'The economic dimensions of poverty'

Dr Richard Finn, OP

Cambridge University

'Walking the Tightrope:
Poverty in the Christian Tradition'

Sr Helen Alford, OP

Angelicum

'What is Enough?'

Hosted by

The Centre for Catholic Studies (Durham University)

The Newman Association

The National Board of Catholic Women

If you would like to attend the study day, places must be booked and paid for in advance by 1st March. £50 with a buffet lunch; £40 without lunch (packed lunches can be brought and eaten in the refectory). Concessions are available on request

For further details, any queries about transport from Durham to Ushaw College, and to book, please contact Eddie Jarvis at: e.t.jarvis@durham.ac.uk or 0191 334 1656

Cheques to be made payable to: 'Durham University, Centre for Catholic Studies' and sent to Theresa Phillips, Centre for Catholic Studies, Department of Theology & Religion, Abbey House, Palace Green, Durham DH1 3RS

www.centreforcatholicstudies.co.uk